Anti-Israeli Takes Over In Lebanon

Karami To Head New Government Under Helou

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rashid Karami, who promises a shift away from Lebanon's virtual neutrality in the Arab-Israeli struggle, began trying today to form a new government in Beirut.

President Charles Helou asked Karami to replace Premier Abdullah Yafi, who resigned Tuesday under fire because of Israel's destructive commando raid on Beirut's international airport.

Karami, who led the 1958 rebellion that U.S. Marines were summoned to quell, heads the Democratic Front, which commands a slight majority in Parliament.

Sources close to Karami said he would try to form a coalition government, but he is expected to have difficulty because leaders of Lebanon's Christian political parties prefer continuation of the previous ambiguous policy of virtual neutrality rather than a harder line against Israel.

Included in his party's platform are support of the Palestinian commandos and their cause, compulsory military service and adherence by Lebanon to Arab policies.

In Jerusalem, meanwhile, Israeli Premier Levi Eshkol rejected France as a Middle East peacemaker. Addressing a conference of world Jewish, Eshkol said President Charles de Gaulle's embargo on arms shipments to Israel "damages the prospects of peace in the Middle East."

"This action can be compared to that of binding the hands of one of the disputants in an arena who is threatened by the other," Eshkol said, "and this by a third party which lays claim to objectivity and to a role of peacemaker in our area. From such a party, the call for peace sounds hollow indeed."

Addressing the same conference, Foreign Minister Abba Eban stressed the idea that Israel would not retreat from the cease-fire lines until she is assured of a lasting peace.

In Paris, the decision to embargo arms shipments to Israel was producing strains in the Gaullist ranks that appeared to be more serious than any since the Algerian war.

Informed sources said Foreign Minister Michel Debre, Defense Minister Pierre Messmer and Minister of State Roger Frey all were bitter about De Gaulle's decision.

Jury Selection Not Likely Until Monday In Sirhan Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jury selection apparently will not start until Monday in the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial on charges of murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Defense motions took up most of Wednesday, as they did Tuesday's opening session, and defense counsel prepared more for submission today.

However, Grant B. Cooper, one of three defense attorneys, said the defense and prosecution had agreed—after a closed session in the chamber of Judge Herbert V. Walker—to begin questioning prospective jurors no later than Monday.

The trial had its first witness Wednesday—an expert on juries. William A. Goodwin, the Los Angeles County jury commissioner, testified on how prospective jurors are selected.

Sirhan, 24, a Jordanian who came to this country with his family as a boy, listened attentively. The second session lasted less than an hour.

Cooper argued that the list of prospective jurors should be set aside on the grounds of not coming to a true cross section of the community.

Defense attorneys raised the possibility that motions for a mistrial or change of venue may be made. Cocounsel Russell B. Parsons told newsmen that the defense would be prepared to present evidence in support of a motion regarding "the saturation of publicity in this area." He said the defense is concerned about the amount and character of news stories in local news media.

Parsons declined to answer directly if this meant that the defense would seek to move the trial elsewhere. But he referred questions to earlier defense statements that there were few places in the world where the case had not been greatly publicized.

Would this mean a motion for a mistrial was more likely? "I would say so," Parsons replied.

Sirhan, 24, is accused of murdering Kennedy and wounding five bystanders last June 5 just after Kennedy had claimed victory in California's Democratic presidential primary election.

And acting President S.I. Hayakawa, his voice breaking and his hands shaking slightly, told newsmen for the first time since the strike began:

"Attendance is not normal." "O'Day, acting on an application by state college trustees, temporarily banned picketing and other strike action by the American Federation of Teachers, Local 1352. Trustees also seek unspecified damages."

Wednesday's violence came after the AFT, for the second straight day, lost control of the picket line and jeering, profanity-shouting students took over.

After the line had swelled to about 1,000, police moved about 12 men into the line to open a corridor to allow nonstrikers to enter the campus.

Officers herded strikers into 19th Avenue, a main thoroughfare. Traffic was immediately backed up and street cars were brought to a standstill.

During the confusion, a striking AFT member, Ron Daidle, 32, was knocked down and injured by a street car—an incident which seemed to trigger a barrage of rocks, bottles, two-by-four lumber and fireworks at police.

Police reinforcements were rushed from staging areas and their number swelled to about 150. Mounted police galloped into the lines of retreating students.

Five persons were arrested then and police continued to pull student strike leaders from the picket line the remainder of the afternoon.

Guarantee On Canines Popular Now

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Credit has gone to the dogs at one Columbus caninery.

For a minimum down — nothing if your credit is good — and $14.40 per month for 21 months you can buy a St. Bernard dog, with a six-month unconditional guarantee and a 10-year warranty.

R. K. Wooten, owner of the store, says "It's something that's sweeping the nation."

In its first two months the store sold more than 300 dogs, ranging from low priced fox terriers to an English sheep dog which goes for $500.

The price includes a seven-day trial period, a lifetime replacement guarantee if the dog gets distemper, hepatitis or leptospirosis, and a six-month unconditional guarantee of replacement if the dog dies or gets killed by any means.

The 10-year warranty works like the warranty on automobile tires and batteries, you get credit toward a new purchase for the unused portion of the warranty if the dog doesn't live out the warranty.

Last week, the GAO reported that federal funds had been handed out by the Neighborhood Youth Corps project in Detroit to hundreds of youngsters, including high school pupils and some college students, who didn't qualify for the assistance.

Grants to finance Neighborhood Youth Corps programs are allocated by the Labor Department, which also sets the eligibility requirements.

The NYC project is designed to provide job training for young people from low-income families, and is aimed especially at high school drop-outs. It also includes an in-school program which attempts to stop youngsters from dropping out of school.

Through last June, the Labor Department had awarded 4,800 contracts to agencies across the country under the 4-year-old program, obligating a total of $1 billion in federal funds.

Of this amount, said the GAO, $34.4 million went to the Economic and Youth Opportunities Agency, official antipoverty organization of Los Angeles County, which in turn channeled money to cooperating organizations.

In addition to citing participation by ineligible youngsters, the 106-page GAO report said it found other weaknesses, including:

—Spotty attendance or non-attendance by project participants in the supplementary education programs required by the Labor Department;

—Ineffective job development and followup services needed by participants to ensure meaningful permanent employment or additional training;

—Inadequate records kept by project sponsors on costs reimbursable by the federal government;

—Inadequate reporting by project sponsors in documenting

Washington Pulls All Stops To Honor Apollo Heroes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson today presented medals to the Apollo 8 moon travelers, hailed them as "history's boldest explorers," and told them they had "blazed a new trail for mankind out into the vastness of extraterrestrial space."

In a White House ceremony, the President decorated Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Lt. Col. William A. Anders with Distinguished Service Medals of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Accompanying citations praised the trio for "outstanding contributions to space flight" on "mankind's first venture beyond earth into orbit around the moon... significantly advancing the nation's capabilities in space."

Borman, Lovell and Anders were making their first public appearance since they concluded their perfect six-day mission Dec. 27. During the historic flight they circled the moon 10 times in 20 hours on Christmas Day and Christmas Eve.

The White House tribute preceded the astronauts' appearance at a joint session of Congress.

"We're quite naturally proud that these three men are Americans," Johnson said, but added "these men, in the vastness of space, represented all mankind."

He said the complexity of the flight proved that man can solve any problem and hoped that all men on earth could pull together like the Apollo team to work for solutions to social and political problems.

Borman, commander of Apollo 8, thanked the President and told him:

"I thought that we had experienced all the excitement known to man in 20 hours in lunar orbit, but this tops even that."

The astronauts conclude the ceremonies tonight with a private reception and dinner at the Smithsonian Institution attended by top level government officials.

The wives and children of the astronauts accompanied them to Washington Wednesday night from their homes near the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex.

Since ending their lunar flight on Dec. 27, Borman, Lovell and Anders have been closeted with experts in Houston, recording all the intricate details of the mission—details intended to ease the way for other astronauts to land on the moon later this year.

The astronauts' trip comes at a time when space agency sources were reporting in Houston, Tex., that Borman may be in line for an administrative

Plan Gives County Groups Taxing Power

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The governor's Task Force on Education today proposed county boards of education be replaced with county education councils authorized to levy education taxes.

The task force, in its report, called for a major revamping of Ohio's educational system with new emphasis on vocational and technical training.

"A serious gap exists between the need for and the availability of vocational and technical education in Ohio," the report said.

"A crisis exists."

The new County Council of Education could levy an education income tax as a means of partially replacing property taxes, the report said.

It also suggested the Legislature raise the average public utility tax rate from 17.5 to at least 25 mills.

Among other highlights of the report:

—State funds for construction of vocational facilities should be distributed on a basis of need.

—A new state-level gross retail receipts tax of one per cent should be earmarked for education.

—Technical education construction funds should be made available through revenue bonds issued by an agency of the state.

The 16-member task force, headed by Dr. John C. Ullery, criticized Ohio's present school districts, charging it guaranteed "unequal educational opportunity."

The county councils of education, in addition to levying taxes, would be empowered to support employment-oriented education.

It could also reorganize present school districts and assign pupils and teachers.

Only five per cent of the 150,000 high school graduates in Ohio each year are skilled to a degree acceptable to employers, the report said.

Finance Director Howard C. Collier said "We are looking for a dependable tax base that will be needed to finance a long-range program."

These gents will gladly tell their "success story."

tional program, his No. 1 priority for the legislature, has ranged from $200 million to $400 million in state, federal and local funds. Some assistance will be provided from the $759 million bond issues approved by last November.

The task force also had discussed recommending to the legislature that the state sales tax be increased from 4 to 5 per cent. This remains a possibility as it will be up to the lawmakers to decide how they want the program financed.

The Senate and House concluded their first week Wednesday with another flurry of bills introduced in the Senate. Both chambers adjourned until 8 p. m. Monday.

A bill to add a student representative, a faculty member and the president of the university to the boards of trustees of each state university — but with no voting right — was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Ralph S. Regula R - 29 Stark. The measure is backed by Rhodes.

The Senate received two bills aimed at cracking down on "marauding gangs of kids." They would raise from $800 to $2,000 the amount of parental liability for the willful destruction of property by minors, and make parents responsible up to $2,000 for malicious assaults on persons by their minor children.

Both bills were sponsored by Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff R - 8 Hamilton.

Other Senate-introduced bills would prohibit lie detector tests for employment, and require that county boards of elections provide convenient locations for voter registration.

The House adopted a resolution praising Rep. Robert G. Jones R-26 Columbus, who died of injuries suffered in an auto accident here in November.

Before adjourning, Kurfess named seven representatives to represent the House at the Jan. 20 inauguration of President-elect Nixon: Ralph E. Fisher R-24 Wayne, Clarence L. Wetzel R-34 Columbus, David Weisert R-28 Muskingum, Carlton E. Davidson R - 26 Lawrence, George V. Voinovich R - 53 Cleveland, Donald R. Nowack D-45 Cleveland and William L. Mallory D-72 Cincinnati.

Senate Majority Leader Gray said he will name these senators Monday: Robert R. Shaw R-16 Franklin, Ralph S. Regula R-29 Stark, Oliver Ocasak D-27 Summit, Anthony F. Novak D-32 Cuyahoga, James K. Leedy R-19 Wayne, Oakley C. Collins R-18 Lawrence and Max H. Dennis R-10 Clinton.

Thief Robs Ex-Prosecutor's Summer Cottage

A thief entered the summer cottage of Robert Huffer and stole $175 worth of fishing equipment, according to a report filed by the ex-county prosecutor.

Huffer, of 389 Markley Drive, told Pickaway County sheriff's deputies that his summer cottage on Lancaster Pike was broken into sometime during the last 90 days. Entrance to the cottage was gained by breaking down an outside cellar door, according to the sheriff's report.

The method of operation indicates that the thief was someone familiar with the property, according to Deputy Richard Clark, who stated that an investigation would be made.

Motorist Fined $50 In Court

Robert L. Tootle, 58, 626 E. Mound St., was fined $50 and costs in Circleville Municipal Court Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to reckless operation of a motor vehicle.

Tootle was cited by Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Bill Dountz. Other motorists from the area on the docket were Julia Carolyn Metty, 25, Ashville, and Mike Brown, 320 Lewis Road, both of whom forfeited a $19 bond for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

A Columbus motorist was fined $10 and costs for driving at a speed unreasonable for conditions. He was driving 20 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Other motorists from out of the county paid fines, costs and bond forfeitures totaling $220.

Revolver Stolen

A .32 revolver was stolen from a disabled car on Circleville-Tarleton Road Thursday, according to a report of the State Highway Patrol.
The revolver was left by Dale Jenne, Route 1, in his car when the vehicle became disabled near Kingston Pike Thursday morning, according to the patrol report.

Lull In Vietnam Fighting Continues; 101 GIs Slain

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. casualties in Vietnam last week were the lowest in 11 weeks, reflecting the continuing lull in the ground war. South Vietnamese and enemy casualties also were considerably less than the week before.

The U.S. Command announced today that 101 Americans were killed in action last week and 599 were wounded, the lowest American casualties since the week of Oct. 13-19, when 100 were killed and 589 were wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 150 government troops killed and 602 wounded, a sizable decrease from the 278 killed and 901 wounded the previous week. The two commands reported at least 1,846 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed, compared with 2,135 the week before.

Stock List Up Sharply

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied early Thursday, with the Dow-Jones industrial average regaining in the first 90 minutes of trading double what it lost the previous day.

The Dow jumped 9.38 to 930.63, as stocks moved higher with gains substantially outnumbering losses.

Trading was below the pace set Wednesday with 3.61 million shares changing hands in the first hour.

Airlines were up fractionally, while steels, which had increased prices of nickel-bearing stainless items, gained slightly. Gulf Resources and American Smelting & Refining also gained fractionally after the companies lifted the price of zinc.

Grand Jury Area Widened

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The first federal jury in northern Ohio picked under the new selection law which went into effect Dec. 22 has reported for duty in U.S. District Court here.

The law, approved by President Johnson last March, provides for selection of jurors from a wider area than before and also doubles daily fees, allowing each juror $20 a day instead of $10.

The new selection system could mean that some jurors may have to travel 100 miles a day to report for duty. One juror who reported for duty Tuesday traveled about 110 miles from Crawford County only to find that the case for which he had been called was settled and he had been dismissed.

The report for the last week of 1968 brought the total American combat casualties since Jan. 1, 1961, to 30,644 killed, 192,926 wounded and 1,238 missing or captured; in those eight years, the U.S. Command said, at least 431,736 of the enemy have been killed.

SCHOOL DAYS—One policeman advances on a demonstrator (left) as other dissidents go down trying to flee from police during disorders near San Francisco State College campus.

Dissident Negro Students Take Over Brandeis Office

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Dissident Negro students crippled the Brandeis University communications system Wednesday in a nonviolent bid for virtual autonomy in Negro affairs on campus.

University President Morris B. Abram called the seizure of Ford Hall an affront to the university community. The faculty voted condemnation of the action and called on the approximately 70 Negroes to abandon their demonstration.

The students answered by barricading doors to the three-story red brick building. They said they had enough food stockpiled to last three days.

Wednesday night Abram entered Ford Hall for about 10 minutes to talk with the students.

In a statement following the brief meeting, Abram said he "had no intentions of negotiating the demands under the present circumstances."

Negro men blocked entrances to the building which houses the university switchboard, faculty offices and an auditorium. They also barred doors to an adjacent building containing laboratories and the university computer.

Abram said the last thing he wanted to do was to summon police.

"The university is a very fragile institution," he said. "It cannot function in an atmosphere of violence."

But he conceded that the university "does not have sufficient force to vacate the building."

The Negroes presented a list of 10 "nonnegotiable" demands including:

—Establishment of a year around recruitment of black students by black students and headed by a black director.

—Immediate action on hiring of black professors.

—Establishment of an Afro-American center to be designed by black students.

Abram contended that the students acted "without prior complaint to the administration."

He said that lines of communications within Brandeis have "always been open and have been blocked only by the force employed by those who have seized the facilities."

"I can only express the deepest shock and amazement over this student act."

After a 2½-hour meeting, the faculty voted 153-18 to "utterly condemn the forcible takeover of the university premises. We believe we cannot confront the problems of the university under threat and coercion. The faculty demands that the students involved vacate Ford Hall and enter negotiations of any grievance with the university administration."

Sheriff's deputies said Ralph D. Melick, 67, apparently shot his 65-year-old wife, Gladys, and their son Gail 47, with a .22 caliber rifle, then turned the gun on himself.

An official ruling in their deaths was expected today.

Other financial matters before council included approval of the annual appropriations ordinance, payment of bills totaling $1,490.13 and raising the salary of street workers to $2 per hour.

Organizational matters before council included establishment of committees and election of a president. Kenneth McDaniel was elected president on the recommendation of Russell Toole.

Committees for the year include finance, composed of LaDonna Haslep, Fred Will and Arthur Deal; municipal building, Russell Toole, Kenneth McDaniel and Dale Pettibone; streets, Arthur Deal, Russell Toole and Dale Pettibone; safety, Kenneth McDaniel, Russell Toole and LaDonna Haslep; utility, Dale Pettibone, Russell Toole and Kenneth McDaniel; ordinance, Fred Will, LaDonna Haslep and Arthur Deal.

Spastas Outlawed In Greece

ATHENS (AP) — Even though Aristotle Onassis enjoys the pastime, Greece's military government has banned the smashing of plates, glasses and tables that heightened the merriment in the nation's tavernas.

The custom, said to have been brought by refugees from Asia Minor in 1922, is known as spasta. The revelers take the plates and glasses on the table and smash them to the floor. Then they dance on the wreckage to the music of the bouzouki, the mandolin-like instrument that Melina Mercouri's "Never on Sunday" introduced to America.

The crockery and glassware is followed by the tables, chairs and anything else breakable as the excitement mounts. At the end of the evening the customers get the bill.

Spasta began in working-class tavernas but has spread to the fashionable spots. Even the guests at snob hotels indulge at Christmas and Carnival.

Shipping magnate Onassis was a devotee, at least before he married Mrs. John F. Kennedy. His spasta bills are reported to have ranged from $700 to $1,000.

The taverna owners welcomed the destruction. They charged what the traffic would bear, as much as $5 a plate.

Senate Demo Infighting Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Senate liberals have moved to block Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., a critic of federal civil rights programs, from taking the chair of a subcommittee that influences appropriations for school desegregation programs.

Warren G. Magnuson of Washington and Rhode Island's John O. Pastore, both Democrats, have teamed up in a plan to keep Byrd from becoming chairman of the Labor-Health, Education and Welfare appropriations subcommittee.

Byrd last fall had let it be known he wanted to give up the chair of the District of Columbia appropriations subcommittee and take over the labor-HEW panel, where he would be in a position to influence and possibly restrict various welfare, education and poverty programs.

But Magnuson and Pastore would use the almost always followed seniority system to keep Byrd out of the labor-HEW position.

Magnuson would become chairman of the labor-HEW subcommittee, succeeding retiring Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama. Only Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, who is expected to keep his defense subcommittee, outranks Magnuson on labor-HEW—which last year took over the antipoverty program.

Pastore would succeed Magnuson as chairman of the independent offices subcommittee, which handles funds for the space program and the Department of Housing and Urban Development, unless Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., decided to give up agriculture and take it.

Something To Think About . . . Flip and Flop

By JEAN CRIST

They came to our house one cold, wintry night as unwelcome guests on my part. Their small, pink noses could be seen at the holes on the side of the cardboard box and the scratching noises coming from the inside of the box indicated they were anxious to get out of their close quarters.

My son Steve was delighted at their arrival, he had been waiting anxiously for them to come so he could begin the experiments he had planned for them. He readied the small, wire cage and then put in our new house-guests, two very small, white mice. I had been acquainted with the house variety of mice and had formed a definite dislike for them as most housewives have, but I had never seen white mice. I can't say I was particularly thrilled when I did see them although their soft, white fur and little pink noses were rather appealing, the tail still made it obvious that this was a rodent. But since they were to be Steve's responsibility and their home would be in the basement, I felt it would not bother me.

Pot Smoking In Britain On Upswing

LONDON (AP) — Smoking marijuana is becoming a week-end pastime for more and more unskilled British workers, an official committee reported today.

The committee recommended that the maximum penalty for using pot be reduced from 10 years to two. It also urged a review of the powers of the police to make drug searches and arrests.

"We have no doubt that the wider use of marijuana should not be encouraged," said Sir Edward Wayne, the committee chairman. "But on the other hand we think the dangers of its use have been overstated and that existing criminal sanctions intended to curb its use are unjustifiably severe."

The report was prepared by the Committee on Drug Dependence in Britain, appointed by the government to investigate drug-taking.

The committee said there had been a gradual growth of marijuana smoking over the past 20 years in Britain, but it was impossible to estimate the numbers accurately.

"Marijuana society is predominantly youthful and without class," the report said. "But there is evidence of growing numbers of marijuana smokers in unskilled occupations who smoke the drug for pleasure at weekends."

Steve wanted the mice in order to perform a science experiment. He hoped to train the mice and record their reactions and then send one of them up in a rocket, bringing him down by parachute. At that time he would record the reactions of the mouse and compare them with the before flight reactions to see what, if any, effect the rocket flight had on the mouse.

He spent hours, over a period of several weeks, training the mice to be used by him by feeding them only with food on his hand so they would come to him readily or by putting food at the end of a maze of wood he had built so that they had to learn how to get to the food. He placed the capsule of the rocket in their cage so they would become accustomed to entering it and he recorded responses to light and sound. He became completely engrossed and fascinated by their behavior.

I surprised myself by joining him in being interested in the small creatures. After a while, I found myself checking the large cardboard box they called home, to see what they were doing. They seemed to sense my presence as they merrily rode the wheel, scampered all around and stood on their hind legs as though putting on a performance for my benefit. Before long, the whole family was involved to some extent with these tiny, furry animals.

Steve had named them Flip and Flop and very aptly so. Flip was the energetic one who was on the wheel most of the time and responded most quickly to any stimuli. Flop was the more relaxed one who never ran when he could walk and took time deciding how to react to any situation.

After a few weeks we noticed Flop was heavier than Flip. We attributed it to his rather lethargic way of life but also had our suspicions of another possibility. This possibility took place a few days ago. Flop is now the proud mother of five, small babies.

A day or so after the big event, it was time for Flip to "do his thing" and be sent skyward in a rocket. The capsule had been padded with soft foam rubber and provided with airholes, so he was quite comfortable. He was taken to the launching pad by what I'm sure was a young man with conflicting emotions. It was only a mouse, but they had spent considerable time together and I'm sure it wasn't easy for Steve to make the decision to take this risk of Flip not coming back from his journey into space. The time for ignition came, the rocket sputtered and took off. The second stage ignited before it should have and the rocket didn't go to its anticipated height. As soon as it hit the ground, we rushed to the capsule and took it into the warm house to see how Flip was. He did not survive the flight, evidently the force of acceleration was too severe for him. He looked very small and still lying there. He was placed in a box and put at the end of the yard covered with leaves until the ground thaws to give him a proper burial.

The experiment is over. Steve didn't get to compare reactions as he had hoped, but he did determine that the mouse could not stand the forces of acceleration that would be necessary to send him up in a rocket unless the capsule was in some way more prepared to reduce the force of acceleration.

But that isn't all he learned. I think now Steve is aware that often in this life we work very hard, putting our heart and soul in an effort only to find it did not work out as we had planned. Then we tend to feel our time and energy has been wasted and to no avail. But this is very seldom true, for often the time spent in working for a certain goal or result is reward, satisfaction and worthwhile enough in itself. As with Steve, although the results of the experiment were not as he had hoped they would be, he was given several weeks of a valuable learning situation in which he was made aware of responsibility by being the one who had to see his animals were fed and well cared for, by giving him the opportunity to be creative and imaginative in devising methods to determine response and by stimulating his mind with many unanswered questions resulting in his increased reading and studying to find the answers. But maybe more than anything else, it made him acutely aware of the importance of life whether it be human or that of one of God's tiny creatures.

As an observer of Steve's experience, I think perhaps much of our happiness and fulfillment lies in the attaining and not in the attainment.

NEW YORK (AP) — The shape of films to come seems to be multi-faceted, split and splintered, surrounding and all-encompassing—and a device to emphasize the visual.

It is form over content, perhaps, but an exuberant celebration of film as film by young directors who are breaking away from the normal mold of one image filling the screen. Motion pictures now show perhaps five or six events going on at one time, by splitting the screen into different panels, often of different shapes. The aim is total involvement of the audience.

The split screen is not new, of course. The master of most movie techniques, D.W. Griffith, used variations on the split theme in such early films as "Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance." The World's Fair in New York in 1964 and Montreal's Expo '67, however, brought out the mod excitement.

"To Be Alive!," a 17-minute film at the World's Fair, used three separate screens, each with its own projector, and a number of industrial and educational films used multi-images in an effort to compress information into short periods.

Other visual treats at the fair included a trisected image on a vast 70mm screen and a 360-degree panorama.

But probably the most influential of all the multi-image pictures was "A Place to Stand," a kaleidoscopic presentation of life in Ontario, Canada. It was produced for the Ontario Department of Economics and Development, with Christopher Chapman, the imaginative creator, directing, filming and editing the 20-minute film. It was a hit at Expo and won an American Academy Award as best short subject.

Dividing the screen into panels of various shapes and sizes and making them move about, Chapman was able to "force" the audience to be more selective about what it sees and more "involved" in the film.

Now, Hollywood has picked up the technique for major productions, for pictorial excitement, compression of information and dramatic effect.

In a recent special section in "Action," the magazine of the Directors Guild of America, three top Hollywood directors discussed the use of the multi-image in their films. All three—Richard Fleischer, who directed "The Boston Strangler," Norman Jewison, a Canadian who directed "The Thomas Crown Affair," and Ralph Nelson, of "Charly"—noted the influence of "A Place to Stand."

What advantages do they find in the use of the multi-image screen?

Fleischer: "The multi-image screen should not be used for informational purposes. It should be used to get over a mood and atmosphere. The multi-image screen was ideal for 'The Boston Strangler.' I sought to build up anticipation and suspense rather than surprise."

Jewison: "You have the advantage of being able to show five stories simultaneously, without cutting back and forth. I used it in 'The Thomas Crown Affair' (1) to show the interrelationships of the characters, and (2) to dramatize the convergence of people coming from different directions."

Nelson: "The multi-image screen is a new advance in story-telling. It can be used to good effect in collapsing story points and generating excitement. It can also be used in conventional scenes. For instance, I had a sequence in 'Charly' where the boy and girl were talking together. I wanted to avoid the usual method of cutting back and forth between the two faces, so I put both of them on a split-screen. Thus you could see both the action and the reaction; the audience itself does the cutting."

Others in Hollywood have indicated they will be using the device in more films. And the new Hemisphere being readied for the Osaka Expo 1970 reportedly will have the entire dome filled by a single image supplied by five projectors.

Perhaps it will be a forerunner of movie theaters of the future—and multi-images a hint of what's to come in our movies.

MRS. STEVEN LEE SCOTT

Miss Nancy Alden Collins, Steven Lee Scott Are Wed

Hedges Chapel United Methodist Church was decorated with arrangements of white carnations and can-dejabra adorned with floral arrangements and white satin bows for the marriage of Miss Nancy Alden Collins and Steven Lee Scott. The Rev. William Sherertz performed the double ring ceremony 6:30 p.m. Jan. 4.

The former Miss Collins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Collins, Route 1, Ash-ville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Scott of Mt. Vernon.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Joseph Peters, organist; Mrs. Gordon Dunkel, violinist, and the Metta-Larks, Mrs. David Diel, Mrs. Neil Barr, Mrs. Boyd Fosnaugh and Mrs. Chester Peters.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a floor length gown of ivory pristine peau with a standup neckline encrusted with seed pearls and crystals. Long fitted sleeves were banded with the pearls and crystals. Fashioned in the skimmer design with a full A-line skirt that swept into a chapel train, the gown was closed at the back with small self-covered buttons. A crystal covered crown held her im-ported two tiered ivory veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations and mums with greenery and knotted satin streamers.

Miss Patricia Collins, who served her sister as maid of honor, was attired in a full length A-line gown of red velvet with long sleeves. Bridesmaids were Miss Connie Collins, sister of the bride, and Miss Kathy Dunkel, cousin of the bride of Circleville. They were dressed identically to the maid of honor and all attendants carried baskets of white and pink carnations.

Best man was Jack Fry of Oxford, and seating the guests were John Harris and J.R. Ables of Mt. Vernon.

Mrs. Collins wore for her daughter's wedding a jade green dress trimmed in lace. Mrs. Scott chose a navy blue dress trimmed in white. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception in the home of Mrs. Homer S. Reber, Walnut Twp., grandmother of the bride, followed the ceremony. A four tiered wedding cake surrounded by a floral arrangement of white orchids was bathed in light from a crystal chandelier. Vases of white carnations and lighted tapers completed the setting.

Hostesses were Miss Jill Hosler, Miss Kay Hay, Miss Sue Courtright of Ashville; Miss Lynne Cheney, Lima; Miss Nancy Crouch, Louisville, Ky., and Miss Joan Davidson of Chicago. students of Miami University.

For the wedding trip the bride wore a jade-green sleeveless A-line dress with high neckline, black accessories and the white carnation corsage from her wedding bouquet.

The new Mrs. Scott is a graduate of Teays Valley High School. She attended Miami University and will continue her education in Europe.

Mr. Scott graduated from Mt. Vernon High School, attended Miami University and is presently serving with the U.S. Army, stationed in Germany.

British Psychologist Urges 'Think Break' In Factories

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — A top British psychologist urges industry to adopt 10-minute "think breaks"—a sort of factory-wide trance—as a means of coping with modern life.

Dr. George Gall believes workers as well as executives are plunging into new techniques without really understanding them.

He announced new classes or workshops for company directors, housewives—"in fact anyone"—to teach them how to evaluate themselves, be more confident and get more out of life.

The aim is to weed out such emotions as jealousy, rage, self-pity and needless worry.

"All too many people do not really understand their job because the pace of modern life does not give them time to get to grips with it. Both they and their jobs suffer," Dr. Hall said.

Think breaks, he said, would help any business if done properly.

All work would stop for 10 minutes and everyone from management on down would stop and ponder on the job, how to improve on it and be happy about it.

Those using it for a chat, a cigarette or a cup of tea would be destroying the purpose.

Hall heads an organization combining psychology with cybernetics. The latter is described in medical terms as the science of communications and control "in animals and machines."

Mrs. Georgia Sweet

As is customary in the lull after the holidays, Derby isn't making much news. This reporter among others in the community, has been suffering from flu. One item of news which should have appeared in last week's column concerns a local family. Miss Anna Marie Lewis daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis, arrived home for the holidays by plane from Texas to spend two weeks vacation with her parents and sisters Esther and Hannah, and has returned to Texas A & L University located in Kingsville, Texas, to resume her studies.

My neighbor of forty some odd years, Mrs. Virgie Higgins, spent her holidays suffering from a severe cold. Mrs. Elsie Smith, my sister, was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital very ill last Thursday evening, with pneumonia, and other complications. She is some improved at this writing, but it is expected she may have to remain hospitalized for sometime yet. Cards or letters should be sent to Room 846 Mt. Carmel Hospital, 793 W. State St., Columbus, Ohio 43222.

Another neighbor James Dawson Sr. observed his birthday the day after New Years. On the same day neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mouser, observed their wedding anniversary.

Next day, January 3, Maxwell Graham, everybody's neighbor, also had a birthday. On January 4, Mr. and Mrs. Eakin, now of Grove City, also observed their wedding anniversary.

On the birthday list this week, are Karen Liff, and Danny Ashcraft, both on January 8, and on January 11 greetings will go to John F. Riddle.

Dayton Democrat To Resign Post

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Robert A. Horstman said Wednesday he will announce his retirement as Montgomery County Democratic chairman at Friday night's meeting of the party executive committee.

Horstman, 59, said he will name a specific date for stepping down at that time. He said it would be some time this year.

The decision was prompted by recent criticism aimed at him from several sides, Horstman said. He succeeded his father, Albert, as county chairman in 1961, and has been the target of ouster movements several times.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The current outbreak of virus infections including Hong Kong flu now sweeping the nation has at least one good thing going for it: It permits the sufferer to really appreciate television.

This viewer, with streaming eyes, plugged nostrils and assorted aches that pills don't relieve, spent Wednesday in the company of an unobtrusive TV set.

During the day, those endless game shows with the merry hosts and the squealing contestants were much too noisy to bear, and the suffering in the soap operas had a tendency to make the invalid thrash around.

But exactly right were some of those elderly movies that are ground out during odd hours of the morning and afternoon.

This viewer turned on a perfectly dreadful World War II film in which Ginger Rogers played Rosy the riveter, and after about 15 minutes it had worked better than a sleeping pill.

Later, when Dick Cavett with Abe Burrows were much too noisy and happy, there was a 1937 movie starring Wendy Barrie playing an heiress who acquires a newspaper and a bunch of carefree reporters including Walter Pidgeon. It may have been one of the very worst movies ever made, but one could follow every plot twist with eyes closed and eventually one drifted off to dreamland.

When this bug departs, if ever, it will be interesting to compare the worst of our 1969 television fare with some of those old movies. It has got to be infinitely superior in every way—remember, we once paid money to see those oldies.

For the rheumy-eyed, the happiest TV consists of shows that can be glanced at, not watched closely. NBC, "Music Hall," with Nancy Sinatra surrounded by some smooth musical performers and plenty of sleek music was thus one of the most effective prescriptions of the evening hours.

Miss Sinatra has a pleasant way with a song and she was helped immeasurably by Don Ho and the team of Sandler and Young.

Something new seems to be arriving on the variety scene: poetry readings with a musical background. Johnny Carson had Rod McKuen reading some of his own material on Tuesday night and he turned up again Wednesday on "Music Hall" with one of the most effective numbers in the hour.

The weekly NBC show has an impossible task cut out for its producers—to turn out something like a variety special every seven days and use a different guest star each time.

Thus the hour has more ups and downs than a fever chart, but when it is good, it is very rewarding. And it was a good show this week except for occasional stilted conversational exchanges in which all concerned were obviously reading from cue cards.

Recommended tonight: "This is Tom Jones," ABC, 7.30-8.30 EST, special, starring the British singer, with Dick Cavett, Juliet Prowse and the Fifth Dimension.

Glenn May Run In '70

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Former astronaut John H. Glenn indicated Wednesday he will begin sounding out Democratic leaders and businessmen soon about a possible second try for the U.S. Senate.

In a copyrighted story in the Dayton Journal Herald, Glenn said, "I want to make the rounds within a month. When I make my decision I will not be coy about it. I'll make my announcement and start campaigning."

Glenn was forced out of the 1964 primary race against U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young by a head injury received in a fall. He said that if he decides to run he will call on Young before making his announcement.

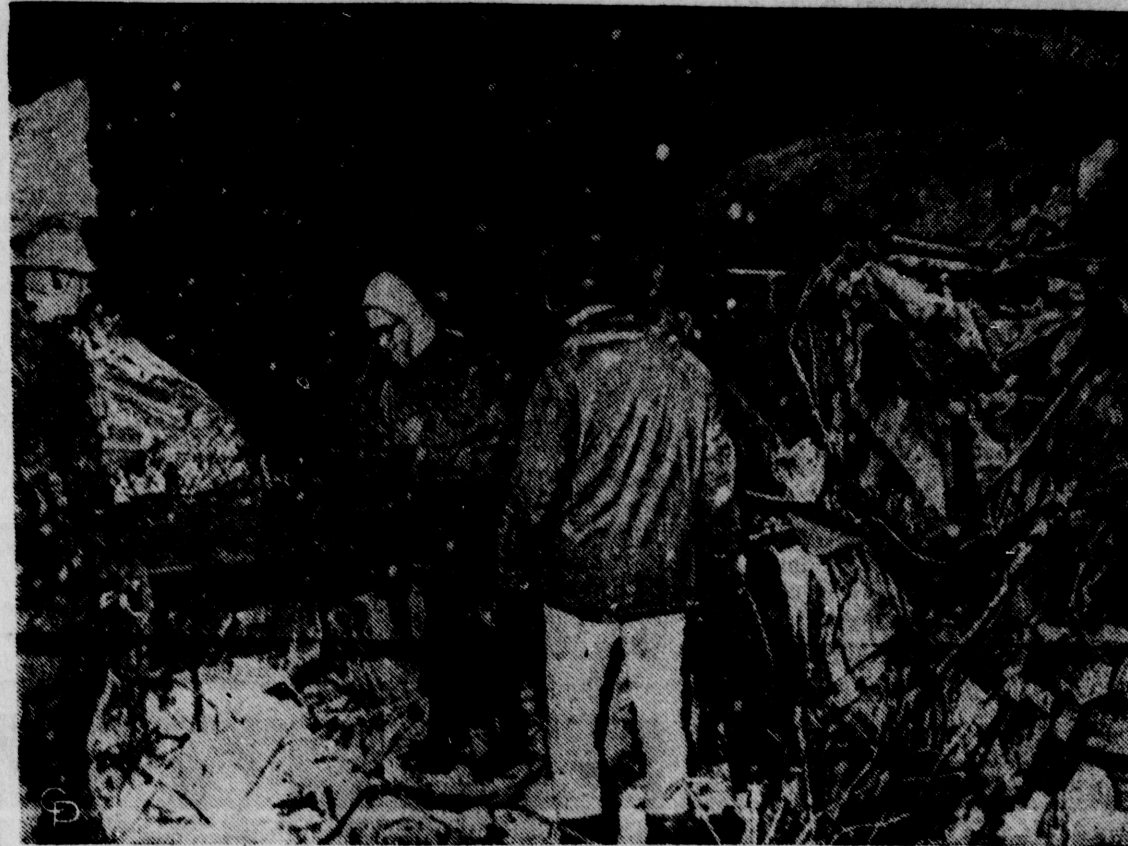

"Of course, I would not ask his blessing to make the race," Glenn said.

Describing himself as a constructive liberal, Glenn said he would welcome a race against a conservative Republican. Gov. James A. Rhodes is considered to be the leading GOP candidate for the Senate in 1970. Rep. Robert Taft Jr. of Cincinnati also has been mentioned as a Republican contender.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Let the Punishment Fit The Crime

DEAR ABBY: Last week I asked my mom if I could go to a party and she said yes. My girl friend's mom promised to drive us there, and mom promised to drive us back.

Well, today my mom asked me to help her take down the Christmas decorations, so I took down a few things and then I got tired so I sat down to rest for a while. Then I went off and forgot all about it, and besides I just wasn't in the mood to do much of anything.

In a while my mother came in and very politely told me that I wasn't going to the party. Do you think this was fair punishment for what I did? My mother PROMISED, and she went back on her word.

Now my girl friend is mad at me because it spoiled all her plans for the party. My mom reads your column, so I wish you would put this in with what you think of mothers who go back on their promises. Thank you.

PUNISHED
DEAR PUNISHED: The punishment should fit the "crime." Your mother should have ordered you to "get in the mood" for a little manual labor, like cleaning out the basement or garage.

DEAR ABBY: What can you give a man who has everything? WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: If I were with the Internal Revenue Department, I'd give him an AUDIT!

DEAR ABBY: Tell that 44-year-old woman who cried her eyes out and blamed her husband when she discovered she was pregnant, that she should dry her tears and thank God.

I was 46 when the same thing happened to me. I'll admit, I was terribly upset at first (shame on me!) but I had no choice, so I finally faced it with a smile. Abby, I had dentures and my hair was nearly white when I carried that child but now I can truthfully say that it was the most marvelous thing that could ever have happened to my husband and me. Our late baby has been the joy of our lives.

I think there could be a hereditary factor involved with late babies as my brother was nearly 66 when he fathered twins. And my own mother was 48 and Dad was 65 when I was born.

SAN DIEGO
DEAR ABBY: You stated that it is possible for two brown-eyed parents to produce a blue-eyed child, but the reverse is NOT true. According to the natural laws of genetics, the chances of two blue-eyed parents producing a brown-eyed child are about 15 to one million!

This is what is known as a "mutation"—or a freak of nature, but it IS possible, so please print this for the benefit of those few to whom it may be important.

Don't give up giving advice, Abby. But please give up genetics.

SINCERELY YOURS,
S.F.H.: HONOLULU

Ambassador To Mexico Leaves With Top Record

By CHARLES H. GREEN
Associated Press Writer
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Ful-ton H. Freeman left his post as U.S. ambassador this month, wearing the highest honor Mexi-co can give a foreigner and basking in probably the best re-lations the neighboring coun-tries have ever enjoyed.

A jazz-playing, cigar-smoking extrovert, he was awarded the Aztec Eagle in a ceremony at the Foreign Ministry.

"I believe relations between the United States and Mexico are at an altitude now which has seldom if ever been reached in the history of diplomatic re-lations between the two," Free-man said.

Freeman, father of three mar-ried daughters, was appointed

CINCINNATI (AP) — Repre-sentatives of Cincinnati's non-uniformed workers set a strike date for midnight Sunday after the employees rejected a slightly-revised wage proposal Wednes-day night.

Freeman lists several reasons for solid improvement in re-lations between his country and Mexico.

"There have been eight per-sonal meetings between Presi-dent Johnson and a Mexican president in a little less than five years," Freeman said.

He also mentioned the four meetings of the Mexican-Ameri-can trade committee, increased tourism for both countries, per-sonal meetings between Mexi-can and American businessmen, and the creation of a commis-sion for development and friend-ship along the border.

Freeman said he has no idea whom President-elect Nixon might name as the new ambas-sador to Mexico, and empha-sized that his resignation was made almost a month before the presidential election. It was not, he said, a routine change-of-ad-ministration resignation.

Zsa Zsa's Nasty Words Not Liked

UXBRIDGE, England, (AP) — Zsa Zsa Gabor used "un-lady-like" language when chal-lenged by customs officials at London Airport. Prosecutor Llewellyn Jones told court today.

He said the Hungarian-born actress, 45, was asked about a dog she was carrying in a small zip bag on arrival from Chicago Nov. 8.

"From then on the offensive language took shape," Jones said. "It was not the language one would expect from a lady, or indeed from any woman, al-though there must be some ex-cuse for it."

"I will not repeat the lan-guage unless asked to do so," Jones said.

Officials finally decided not to let the small terrier dog into the country because there had been no rabies test.

Miss Gabor pleaded guilty through her lawyer to using lan-guage liable to cause offense and to importing a dog into Brit-ain without permission. She was fined 50 pounds, $120.

Ohio Power Co. Sets Expansion Of Facilities

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — A record $155 million will be spent by the Canton-based Ohio Power Co. this year for expansion and improvement of its power production and delivery facilities.

Announcing this Wednesday, Executive Vice President A.N. Prentice said new super generating units, transmission lines and substations are included in the 1969 plans.

"This marks the fourth consecutive year that our expansion program has exceeded $100 million," Prentice said, "and brings to more than $500 million the amount invested in the four-year period 1966-69."

The 1969 program includes expenditures of about $77 million for continuation of work on the two 880,000-kilowatt generating units at the Mitchell plant south of Moundsville, W. Va.

Navy Inquiry Into Pueblo Case Slated

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A U.S. Navy court of inquiry into the capture of the USS Pueblo and behavior of its crew while prisoners apparently will start next week.

The Navy has said that the court will convene soon after debriefing of crewmen by intelligence experts is completed. The last of the 82 freed crewmen to begin debriefing—Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, the skipper—started his interviews Monday.

The court of inquiry is not a trial. On the basis of facts brought out in the inquiry, the Navy will determine whether further proceedings, such as courts-martial or decorations for heroism are warranted.

Although the court of inquiry is generally open to the public, Navy officials said some matters concerning national security will not be made public.

The Navy said it delayed Bucher's debriefing because of his mental and physical fatigue. However, he and nine other crewmen received the Purple Heart Saturday in public ceremonies. They were wounded when the North Koreans captured the intelligence ship nearly a year ago.

The Pueblo skipper still suffers malnutrition but has gained five pounds since his release, the Navy said Wednesday. He is on a special diet with some of his crewmen and continues taking medicine for an upper respiratory infection, doctors said.

He also is getting dental treatment and will need dental surgery, they said. The skipper and crew returned from captivity Christmas Eve.

'Face' Is Biggest Paris Talk Stumbling Block

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

PARIS (AP) — American efforts to get Vietnam peace talks started are snagged by a conflict between the practical West and the complicated East.

The North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front have the role of spectators, watching the development of debate in their opponents' camp. That debate apparently must be settled before Washington and Saigon can put forward new proposals.

The United States wants to overleap the debate which now seems to be a major obstacle to getting the talks started quickly. This attitude calls to mind the practical approach to the case of the intelligence ship Pueblo captured by North Korea.

In the Pueblo case, the main obstacle was North Korea's insistence that the Americans confess wrongdoing and apologize before the crew would be released. Here in Paris, the problem is whether there are two sides or four involved in the Vietnam War.

To Americans the question might seem trivial alongside the major goal of getting a conference started. To the Saigon government it is a matter of importance, of prestige, involving a risk of giving "face" to the enemy and placing him in a position to demand more.

To accomplish their goal in the Pueblo case, the practical Americans ceremonially signed a confession of wrongdoing and publicly denied it at the same time.

In Paris, the United States again seems eager to take the practical approach in order to get everybody to a conference table. Once there, the Americans would affirm publicly—as they have all along—that they still adhere to the concept that there are two sides and not four in the Vietnam War. The opponents would be free to interpret the shape of the table or the seating arrangements in any way they wished.

To Saigon, at the moment, this appears to be an effort on the part of the Americans to push through concessions favoring the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front. South Vietnamese sources hint fretfully that they are being subjected to American arm twisting.

A U.S. delegation spokesman says: "We are still for a two-sided conference. We have made this clear here and in San-

gon. We are trying to get over the hurdle and get the talks started without surrendering the concept of two sides."

This concept could, the Americans feel, be preserved by the device of a formal, public statement, and that a dividing line at the table would then be implicit. But Saigon contends that the line must be a real one, a visible one, so that there will be no suggestion whatever that the NLF as a "reality" but not a political entity which can speak for any segment of the South Vietnamese.

The Americans have had no formal or informal contact with the North Vietnamese since Jan. 2. The prospects for the opening of peace talks in the immediate future are gloomy.

Even after the inauguration of President-elect Nixon on Jan. 20, the chances are that it still will be some time before the two sides can get down to the business at hand, informed sources say.

Rep. Minshall Denies He'll Get U.S. Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William E. Minshall, R - Ohio, denied Wednesday reports that he has been offered a high position in the Defense or Transportation departments by President-elect Nixon.

Minshall said, "I consider it an honor and a privilege to represent the 23rd Congressional District and I intend to continue my legislative services."

Czechs Name New Liberal To Top Post

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist leaders tried to ease the blow of Josef Smrkovsky's demotion Monday night by naming another liberal to replace him.

The party's 21-member presidium recommended unanimously that Petr Colotka be appointed chairman of the nation's new Federal Assembly. Smrkovsky, president of the old National Assembly until Czechoslovakia became a federation on Jan. 1, was named Colotka's deputy chairman.

Colotka, a deputy premier and until a month ago the nation's press chief, is generally regarded as a liberal. He is a Slovak, and both the Czech and Slovak branches of the Communist party have gone on record in favor of a Slovak holding the position to give an ethnic balance in the top official rank. Smrkovsky is a Czech, and with him in the post the division was 3-1 in favor of the Czechs.

Smrkovsky accepted the party's decision in advance and urged that the public also accept it.

Gilligan Studies Political Future

CINCINNATI (AP) — John J. Gilligan of Cincinnati says he kindles no hopes of becoming chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Gilligan said he told Democratic leaders Tuesday that "I really didn't think I would be interested under any circumstances," but added that he might like to run for governor in 1970.

Hair Treatment Proves Expensive

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — An Elyria couple was awarded $110,000 damages Tuesday because a beauty salon allegedly burned the woman's scalp during a hair treatment, causing her to lose her hair and require surgery.

Lorain County Common Pleas Court Judge LeRoy Kelly awarded Ronald G. Lewis $10,000 for the loss of the services of his wife, Carol, who was awarded $100,000.

Expect HHH To Select Demo Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional sources say the three leading contenders being considered by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to become the new Democratic National Chairman are Sen. Fred Harris, Rep. James G. O'Hara and former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford.

Lawrence F. O'Brien's resignation as chairman was announced Tuesday in a letter to Humphrey, titular head of the party. Both O'Brien's letter and Humphrey's acceptance were dated last Saturday.

In his letter, O'Brien, chairman since August, told Humphrey that "an outstanding opportunity has been presented to me in the business community. Both professional and personal reasons compel me to accept."

A close Humphrey associate said the vice president definitely plans to recommend a successor to the National Committee when it meets here next Tuesday in its first session since the Democratic defeat in November.

It is expected to ratify his choice.

Harris, O'Hara of Michigan and Sanford all were key figures in Humphrey's campaign. Another mentioned for the chairmanship is Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota.

Minibikini Ruling Causes Uproar

BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A random survey in American cities today found scant support—especially among men—for an Australian ruling that minibikinis must measure at least two inches at the hip.

"The less the merrier!" commented George Winship, 31, a commercial artist in New York City.

"If they have something to show off, let them go ahead," said Chuck Edmonds, 22, of Los Alamos, N.M., a senior at the University of Utah. "Anybody who complains is probably jealous or fat."

"I think they should raise the limit and force all Australian girls with minibikinis to seek asylum on U.S. beaches," said disc jockey Robert L. Zimmer, 22, in Phoenix, Ariz.

"It sounds like a rule passed by sex-starved beach inspectors," said Reed R. Anderson, 24, a sales representative of Romead, Calif.

Actually the ruling made by Sydney, Australia, authorities recently has left both beach inspectors and many girls pouting.

The inspectors were at first delighted, leaping to their job with zeal but then learned that if they measured the costume while it is on the girl they could be brought up for technical assault.

Moaned one inspector, "How can we do our duty?"

And the Aussie girls, crowding the summertime beaches, were also dismayed. "I think it is dreadful," said Marijka Vos, 20, a 36-24-36 model. "There is no freedom left in the world."

Many American girls shared her antiruling sentiment.

Gail Burns, 23, a very slender, leggy 5-foot-8 Miami girl said she would stick with the smaller bikinis, adding, "If they would arrest me for that, I'd have to be a test case."

"If you have the figure for a bikini," said shapely Judi Daniel, 22, a reporter in Dallas, "I don't think the size should make any difference."

"It all depends on the size of your hip and the effect you want to create," said Ann Hodgson, 26, a curvaceous computer programmer in New York. "I would certainly want a great deal more than two inches on my hips."

Ingrid Meyer, 25, a Chicago secretary, agreed: "Two inches at the hips? You know that's pretty small. That's like a string! Let me measure... That's too small. It has to be three inches."

Said 65-year-old Dmitri Vall, a Dallas portrait artist: "I don't know why they're quibbling over fractions of an inch! Like the strip-tease queens say about their costumes, 'They're just binding.'"

Marine 1st Lt. Stephen C. Riggin, 24, of Arcadia, Calif., raised a question: "Why measure it at the hip? It's certainly not essential there. It doesn't seem like two inches at the hip would make any difference in the vital areas."

And in Pasadena, Carol Belmont, 22, an x-ray technician, seemed to sum things up when she said, "It all depends on the size of the hips. On some women two inches wouldn't cover a freckle."

Dunkerque
Mail 29
Years Late

LONDON (AP) — The mail from Dunkerque dropped through the mail slots of a score of British homes today, 29 years late.

It was part of a batch captured by the Germans as they advanced on Britain's besieged expeditionary force in 1940. A former German officer, Josef Keller of Munich, recently found the letters stored in his attic and forwarded them to Col. William Heal, secretary of the Suffolk Regimental Association.

Heal started sending them out Monday to persons he could trace.

"Keep your chin up and don't worry. Everything will soon be okay again," wrote Clifford Pizzy to his widowed mother, Mrs. Kate Pizzy, at Stowmarket, Suffolk.

Two days after writing it he began four years as a German prisoner. He works now as a railway man, a 50-year-old bachelor still living with his mother.

Some letters will go no farther than Col. Heal. Addresses have changed and some people cannot be traced. Others were written by men who did not come back.

Miami Trace defeated Teays Valley, 72-68. Circleville lost to the Vikings, 80-76.

Although Circleville's record is not impressive, the Tigers have given a good accounting of themselves in practically every game this year, and in most were close until the late in the action.

COACH Garold Sowders feels that his scrambling cagers are capable of upsetting any team in the league especially if they are taken lightly by the opponent.

Circleville's leading scorer and one of the top point makers in the South Central Ohio League is Randy Halley. Halley

Cincy, Miami, Wittenberg All Win Close Cage Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cincinnati, Miami and Wittenberg won important college basketball victories Wednesday night. The total margin of victory in the three games was four points.

Rick Roberson's layup at the buzzer provided Cincinnati's 52-50 win over scrappy Xavier in the traditional game between the Queen City rivals.

The score was tied a dozen times in the second half of the back-and-forth game. Jim Ard was high for Cincinnati with 19 and Xavier was headed by Luther Rackley's 17.

Undefeated Wittenberg took a big step toward improving its 15th place standing in the small

Minnesota Holds Lead In ABA Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Louie Dampier won the night's scoring war from Connie Hawkins by four points, but it didn't help Kentucky much in its battle to overtake Minnesota in the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

Dampier drilled in 46 points—including five three-pointers—to power the Colonels to a 109-97 victory over the Indiana Pacers.

But first-place Minnesota, backed by Hawkins' 42-point outburst, maintained its five-game lead over Kentucky by edging Miami 128-124.

Los Angeles rolled past Denver 117-112 in the night's only other game.

Kentucky's victory enabled the Colonels to climb into a second-place tie with the Pacers, who had won six in a row.

The Colonels, who also got 20 points from Jim Logan, leaped to a 28-15 first quarter lead and Indiana never got closer than four points after that.

Mel Daniels scored 30 for Indiana, while teammate Fred Lewis has 22.

Warriors Win County Cage Title With Unblemished Record

Saltcreek swept, to the Pickaway County Junior High basketball title Wednesday, defeating Ashville 42-18, in the final game of the season.

Scioto nailed down second place in the league with a 59-21 decision over Pickaway. Walnut edged Monroe, 51-45, and Jackson beat Washington, 39-26.

Saltcreek has a 7-0 league record. The only loss for the Warriors this year, 8-1 in all games, came outside of the league at Zane Trace Junior High School.

Scioto has won six and lost one. The loss was to Saltcreek. In third place is Walnut with a 5-2 record, having lost to the first and second place teams.

MONROE, defeated by Walnut, Scioto and Saltcreek this year is fourth with a 4-3 record; rounding out the league is Ashville, 3-4; Pickaway, 2-5; Jackson, 1-6; and Washington, 0-7.

The county junior high coaches meet this afternoon in the office of the Pickaway County Superintendent of Schools for the tournament drawing. The tournament begins Jan. 18 and will continue on the next two successive Saturdays.

In last night's action, Dave Chaffin scored 15 points for Scioto. Dave Wright and Larry Hollingshead netted 12 each. Kenny Kurtz led Pickaway with six points.

Tim Justice scored 18 points, Jack Randall 12 and Jim Bigham eight for Saltcreek. They led all the way as they clinched the county league crown.

Maynard, Sauer Jet Sparkplugs

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Don Maynard and George Sauer Jr., are a far cry from the usual conception of a big, rough, tough professional football player. Yet they are two of the big reasons why the New York Jets will be meeting the Baltimore Colts in Sunday's Super Bowl.

Both look more like successful young business executives, confident, fastidiously dressed, striding down Madison Avenue en route to the next financial account customer.

Personality-wise they are as different as two peas in a pod. Maynard, at 31 a veteran of 11 years in professional ball, is the prankster—ever ready with the quip. "An unusual kid," is the way coach Weeb Ewbank describes his pass catching ace.

Ewbank calls him the "human crab because he seems to be always finding fault in a joking manner." Then the roly-poly Jets coach added: "but he is a great athlete—one that doesn't smoke, never takes a drink and trains the year round even when teaching school during the off season."

Sauer, 24-year-old son of the Jets personnel director, is even more deceiving in picturing a pro football player. He wears horned-rimmed glasses beneath a head of heavy blond hair.

On the field, Sauer replaces his spectacles with contact lenses.

"The contacts has made a different player out of him," said Ewbank. "When he first joined the club, we noticed he often dropped the ball catching it over one shoulder. We sent him to an eye specialist who recommended contact lenses."

Since then he has joined with Maynard in giving the Jets one of the most feared, 1-2 punches.

"I would describe George as a fast Ray Berry," said Ewbank, referring to the one-time great Baltimore end. "Berry was not fast but he ran great patterns. George is fast and also is a master at patterns."

Statistically Sauer edged Maynard 66-57 in passes caught during the past season. But Maynard hung up a pro record of yardage gained, surpassing Berry's old mark with a total of 1,287 yards and 10 touchdowns. Sauer picked up 1,141 yards and scored three touchdowns.

While sitting around the lobby of the Jets hotel headquarters, Maynard was asked what he thought of the odds which make the Colts an 18-point favorite.

"The odds make no difference to me," Maynard replied. "I never even think of them. This is just another big game. But I think I'm a better pass receiver this year chiefly because Joe (quarterback Joe Namath) and I have been working together four years. What helped make Berry so great was that he was with Johnny Unitas for 10 years."

Sauer, who celebrated his third wedding anniversary on Wednesday, was just as calm outwardly as his teammate. And he expressed surprise at the point spread.

"I've got plenty of butterflies inside of me," said the likeable youngster. "But they disappear as soon as I get into a meeting of the players or on the field."

Grid Rulesmakers Expected To Keep Free Substitution

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Despite charges of strong-arm tactics by the powerful NCAA council and pressure from the top brass, college football rulesmakers are expected to keep the new attempt to put in limited substitution, returning the game to the one-platoon system.

Before closing its annual convention Wednesday, the National Collegiate Athletic Association named a three-man committee to sit in with the 17-man committee which begins deliberations at Palm Springs next Monday on the knotty problem.

Coaches and others favorable to the more exciting two-platoon—or professional brand—of football insist that this action is like holding a hammer over the rules committee's head.

However, an informal poll of the committee indicates that sentiment is strong for keeping the present rule, which produced some of the most exciting scores and biggest crowds in history.

While the council insists the three men are mere observers, some recalled that similar tactics were used 1952 when the two-platoon system was surprisingly scrapped, not to return until 1965.

Many of the college administrators are pushing for a return to limited substitution, arguing that this is one means of cutting down spiraling costs now threatening to bankrupt college athletic programs.

The financial squeeze has brought other sharp cleavages between the men who handle the purse strings and the men who coach the teams.

One of these new areas concerns scholarships. Administrators want them reduced, perhaps placed under a national ceiling. The coaches, who depend on material for their jobs, are rebellious. Most of them want as many scholarships as they can get.

The American Football Coaches Association Wednesday voted to appoint a blue ribbon panel to study spiraling costs in athletics. The coaches are out to prove that there's a lot of lard on the hog—but not from scholarships.

The scholarship problem brought an interesting sidelight to the convention when a measure was passed giving the individual institutions a stronger hand in taking away the grants-in-aid when player is guilty of manifest disobedience.

Some of the Negro members took this as a subtle slap at the black power groups and said it might be invoked just because a player wears an Afro haircut or no haircut at all.

The NCAA insisted that the guilt would have to be deeper than that and would involve boycotts and overt acts of disruption, such as the San Jose State sitdown against Brigham Young during the football sea-

Paterno Rejects Big Pro Contract For Campus Life

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Penn State's young Joe Paterno, who spurned a half-million dollar coaching contract with the pros to stay on campus, acknowledged today he is a "corn-ball" and an "idealist."

"Some people may think I'm nuts for turning down such an offer," the sight, 42-year-old former Brown University quarterback said. "But I think there is more to life than money. I don't want to restrict myself to football."

Paterno, whose Nittany Lions now are unbeaten in 19 games, turned down Wednesday an offer from the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League which reportedly would have given him $50,000 a year for 10 years.

"I can't say what the contract was—Pittsburgh will have to do that," he added. "It would have assured me a lifetime of financial security for my family. I can never make that kind of money in college coaching, but I put more value in other things."

"I love campus life. I love the western Pennsylvania community where I live. I enjoy taking young players and watching them develop into men. I like the challenge of big-time college football."

Paterno said he resents the impression of some people that a college team to be big and successful must be crooked. "I know from my experiences at Penn State that boys can be gentlemen and have humility on and off the field and still win," he continued. "Just because a team is good doesn't mean there are abuses, under-the-table payments and so forth."

Penn State during the past season won 10 games without a defeat, beat Kansas in the Orange Bowl and gained No. 2 ranking in The Associated Press final football poll.

See Tussle In College Cage Ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky Wesleyan, almost knocked off its perch atop The Associated Press' small-college basketball ratings, faces another difficult assignment this weekend when it takes on 10th-rated Gannon, Pa.

The Panthers from Owensboro, Ky., suffered their initial setback of the campaign when they bowed to Evansville 71-70 last week. The result helped runner-up Fairmont of West Virginia to move to within 11 points of the leaders in the latest vote by a national panel of 16 sports writers and broadcasters.

Kentucky Wesleyan, 8-1 through games of last Saturday, accumulated 234 points in the balloting to 223 for unbeaten Fairmont, which edged the Panthers in first-place votes, five to four.

The Panthers meet Corpus Christi tonight and take on Gannon Saturday night. Gannon defeated Mt. St. Mary's, Illinois Wesleyan and San Francisco State last week in lifting its record to 9-2.

Stephen F. Austin rushed up to grab third place in this week's balloting followed by Ashland, Ohio, which held its ground, and Trinity, Tex., which slipped two positions to fifth.

Southwestern Louisiana, Central State of Ohio, Evansville, which advanced from 15th to eighth, Long Beach State and Gannon complete the first 10 in that order.

Illinois State, tied for 19th with Cheyney, Pa., State, is the only new team in the second 10. South Dakota State is 11th. Then come Lamar Tech, Nevada Southern, Youngstown State, Wittenberg, Eastern Michigan and Southwest Missouri State in a 16th-place deadlock and Indiana, Pa. State.

Ed Bourdase Takes Lead In PBA Clash

CANOGA PARK, Calif. (AP)

—Veteran Ed Bourdase of Fresno, Calif., averaged 230 to take a commanding lead after two rounds Wednesday night in the Professional Bowlers Association $45,000 Southern California Open.

The 40-year-old Bourdase fired six-game blocks of 1,363 and 1,401 for a 2,764 for 12 games. This was 121 pins better than that hung up by John Floyd, the first-round leader from Houghton, La., who totaled 2,643 for 12 games.

Dick Weber, the little guy with the big name from St. Louis, was in third place with 2,594. Weber made the big move from 12th into third with a 1,313 six-game set in the night session.

Tar Heels, Dedmon Top N.C. State, 83-63

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
Big Lee Dedmon didn't start playing basketball until his junior year in high school and you can't blame the North Carolina State Wolfpack for wishing he had waited until his junior year in college.

Dedmon is a 6-foot-10, 195-pound sophomore at the University of North Carolina. After graduation he wants to play basketball in Europe and then in the pros. Wednesday night, however, he settled for playing basketball in Chapel Hill, N.C., and led the second-ranked Tar Heels to an 83-63 win over arch-rival N.C. State with 27 points and 11 rebounds.

The big man from Baltimore was in the starting line-up for the first time because Rusty Clark, the Tar Heels' regular center, was out with an injury.

Even a 60-foot basket as the half ended by Dick Braucher didn't help the Wolfpack. That made it 36-34 North Carolina at the intermission and the Tar Heels pulled away in the second half, scoring 13 straight points during one stretch to take a 77-53 lead.

Only two other teams in The Associated Press' Top Ten saw action. Eighth-ranked St. John's celebrated its entrance into the elite group with a 66-45 rout of Seton Hall and 10th-rated New Mexico State crushed Pan American 109-74.

St. John's had to overcome a one-man show by Seton Hall sophomore Mel "The Marvel" Knight, who scored 34 of the Pirates' 45 points. The Redmen led only 26-25 at halftime but broke it open midway through the second half after trailing 34-32 with 12:41 left. John Warren sparked the winners with 16 points.

55 Register For Summer Swim Season

A total of 55 swimmers registered to swim on the Circleville Swim Team in summer competition this year.

Swim Coach Jim Shea was extremely happy with the turnout, saying that to date 16 new swimmers have joined the team, to make the largest number of new swimmers in any one year.

"However we can still use some more swimmers, especially boys and girls age 8 and under, girls age 11 and 12, boys age 13 and 14 and girls and boys age 15-16 and 17. Our greatest need, is the boys and girls in the 15 through 17 age group," Shea said.

"In addition," he stated, "we can use girls age 12 and 14, boys age 11 and 12 and both girls and boys age nine and ten."

Interested boys or girls may still register by phoning 474-6242 any evening.

The Circleville Swim Team, a member of the Mt. Pleasant Swim League, had a 5-1 record last summer, placing second in the six team league.

Bullets Bop San Diego

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
San Diego's Rockets launched a tremendous come-from-behind effort, but Wes Unseld scuttled the whole thing with a simple little layup.

Unseld nursed in the layup with just three seconds left Wednesday night to give the Baltimore Bullets a 108-107 victory over the Rockets in the National Basketball Association.

Philadelphia nipped Atlanta 112-111, Boston stopped Detroit 113-104 and New York rolled past Milwaukee 115-101 in the night's other activity.

San Diego was 17 points behind early in the fourth quarter when it started its rally, moving to a 107-106 lead with 30 seconds left on Don Kojis' jump shot.

Pat Riley and Kojis double teamed the Bullets' Earl Monroe, and stole the ball with 16 seconds left. Jack Marin of Baltimore fouled San Diego's Elvin Hayes, but the rookie center missed both free throws with nine seconds remaining, giving Baltimore possession. Marin then missed a 25-foot jumper, but Unseld grabbed the rebound and put it in for victory.

The victory enabled the Bullets to maintain their 1½ game lead over Philadelphia in the rugged Eastern Division race.

Philadelphia Flyers Tie Toronto, 4-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If a tie game is like kissing your sister it's just one smooch after another for the Philadelphia Flyers.

The amazing Flyers continued their Year of the Tie Wednesday night by playing Toronto to a 4-4 National Hockey League stand-off. It was their fourth straight deadlock—every game so far in 1969—sixth in the last seven games and 11 of the season.

The NHL record is 23 ties by the 1962-63 Montreal Canadiens. In the only other action, Chicago downed St. Louis 3-1 and moved past Toronto into third place in the East Division.

Panel Debunks UFOs, Urges No More Investigations

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — University of Colorado scientists reported formally today there is no evidence Unidentified Flying Objects are visitors from outer space and suggested dropping further investigations.

"Our general conclusion is that nothing has come from the study of UFO's in the past 21 years that has added to scientific knowledge," the scientists' 1,485-page report said bluntly.

The $500,000, two-year study, conducted for an Air Force weary of the "flying saucer" headache, said "further extensive study of UFO's probably cannot be justified" at this point in the interest of science.

The three-volume report went along with the Air Force's long-held position that no evidence exists indicating that UFO's pose a hazard to U.S. security. The service, however, had no comment on it.

The scientists, headed by Colorado's Dr. Edward U. Condon, acknowledged their conclusions are bound to stir new controversy among flying saucer-believers as well as other dedicated scientists who want to keep an open mind on the matter.

One of several flying saucer groups—the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena—scheduled a Friday news conference to discuss the long-awaited "Scientific Study of Unidentified Flying Objects." The group charged last May the Condon study lacked impartiality.

But the report won the "unanimous approval" of a National Academy of Sciences panel which was asked by the Air Force to review it in a "further independent check."

The panel found the study "adequate" in scope, its "methodology and approach well chosen" and concurred in its evaluations and recommendations.

Among the study's major points:

"No direct evidence whatever of a convincing nature now exists for the claim that any UFO's represent spacecraft visiting earth from another civilization."

—About 90 per cent of all UFO reports "prove to be quite plausibly related to ordinary objects" such as planes, satellites, balloons, street lights, beacons, clouds or other natural phenomena.

—Defense needs probably could be carried out "without the continuance" of the Air Force's Project Blue Book which has investigated UFO reports since 1947, but this is a matter for the Pentagon to decide.

—Suggestions by some people that the government possesses extraterrestrial spacecraft and has their crews in secret captivity some are "fantastic nonsense."

—Allegations the government has attempted an official cover-up of the flying saucer matter have "no factual basis whatever."

—Some public school students are being "educationally harmed by absorbing unsound and erroneous" reading materials on UFO's, and "we strongly recommend" teachers stop giving them credit for reading saucer books and articles.

The scientists charged at one point the National Investigations Committee for Aerial Phenomena (NICAP) "made several efforts to influence the course of our study."

"When it became clear that these would fail, NICAP attacked the Colorado project as 'biased' and therefore without merit," the report said.

The scientists presented 35 cases where UFO's were photographed, or appeared to have been.

Nine were said to give evidence of "probable fabrication," seven of possible fabrication, seven were classified as natural or man-made phenomena and 12 provide insufficient data for analysis.

None proved to be "real objects with high strangeness."

Since the Air Force's Project Blue Book began investigating "flying saucers" in 1947, there have been 12,097 UFO sightings, 697 of which remain "unidentified."

Engine Failure Said Plane Crash Cause

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Engine failure has been blamed for the crash of a single-engine plane last month in Mentor that killed Robert Kucera.

Robert Deyell of the Federal Aviation Administration in Cleveland said Wednesday that a part inside the engine disintegrated.

Demos In Congress Seek To Control Policy Making

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield says that while a Republican occupies the White House, Democrats in Congress should shape party policy and not an outside group of liberals.

Mansfield visibly shuddered when asked in an interview for an opinion on revival of the Democratic Advisory Council which spewed out party policy pronouncements during the GOP Eisenhower years.

The council, organized to emphasize a liberal viewpoint in party affairs, was continually at loggerheads with then Democratic Senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson and the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Mansfield said the center of policy-making will shift from the White House to Congress when Nixon is inaugurated.

"My feeling is that the Democratic majorities in the two houses will take the lead in shaping major party policies," Mansfield said. "We can't afford to speak with many voices. There will be more than enough of that right here on Capitol Hill."

Retiring Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien had been thinking of proposing that outsiders be invited to sit in at times with the party policy committees of the two houses. Any such proposal now awaits the selection of his successor.

The Republicans also have a committee that helped shape policy while Democrats were in the White House.

But its makeup is vastly different from the Democratic Advisory Council and Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he would like to keep it functioning.

Dirksen said the committee's task during the Nixon administration should be to concentrate on producing factual background reports on major issues.

He conceded that any policy pronouncements would have to be cleared in advance with Nixon.

Involved in the continuance of the committee is the question of whether Ray Bliss, its presiding officer, will retain his national chairmanship.

Nixon has been urged in some quarters to replace Bliss with a better television performer. Nixon has been silent but even some of Bliss' friends are convinced it is only a matter of time until the chairmanship changes hands.
